

Green Solutions That Work

for business, jobs, and home.

Electric Cars on Display!

We've all heard about the buzz about the green economy but when will it get here? Talking about greens impact on the future is fine but what impact is it having now? What jobs is it creating now? What careers in it are available now?

That is what the "Green Solutions That Work" conference is all about - the here and now of green in businesses, jobs and the community. No theories or maybes of what is to come but what is here and available now for job seekers, businesses, students, instructors and the community.

So if you're tired of theory and future maybes the "Green Solutions That Work" conference is for you. And it's free! For more information head over to our website www.oaklandcc.edu/ce/GreenSolutions.
